

Welcome to the hotel manager's office! You are at the point where everything comes together: Tips from helpful eyewitnesses, the registration of the search teams and all the organisational matters around the Sacher scandal. So that you are not held up in your upcoming search for the recipe's trace and are recognisable as an official search team, please don't forget to take one badge for each team member with you. When you have successfully recovered the recipe, please bring it back here and return your badges. The finder's reward is waiting for you!

You have followed the correct tip of the witnesses and are at the meeting point of the thief and his accomplice. Look around to see if you can find a clue to the thief's further path!

The World's Best Bakery Vienna has earned its name. But what does it have to do with the Sacher recipe? Is it the competition who is behind the theft? There may be more to find out inside the Bakery.

Awesome! You have gained entry to the Bakery without attracting attention. You find your way unnoticed into the heart of the place - the kitchen. But strangely, something at the hot plate looks different than usual ... and the recipes for the good cakes and co. are not where they are supposed to be either ...

Tadaa! You've cracked the code from the right recipe for the secret hiding place in the secret hot plate stash and found the key to the Bakery Chef's top-secret storage box. A great achievement! But what's so secret in here that one has to hide it so cleverly? It's just a few papers ...

There it is! With the right box number and the right password, you have indeed found the Sacher recipe! But why is it actually in a storage facility and why didn't the thief take better care to cover his tracks?

Find out in the next issue of Vienna Daily!
